

Sunday Morning Service Music

What's involved?

Playing the piano, organ, guitar or other instrument to lead the sung worship at Sunday evening services.

What kind of person is needed?

People who are competent to play an instrument in a way in which others are enabled to sing.

What's the commitment?

There is a wide variety in the number of services a term current musicians play at. It is expected that musicians arrive in time to be ready to practice 30 minutes before the start of the service.

What training is available?

If you play an instrument, but are not sure about leading others, current members of the team would be happy to work with you towards this. If you are a pianist who is interested in exploring playing the organ, we can also arrange this.

Who should I speak to? Richard Taylor
